Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On December 16, 2005, Lee R. Raymond and Exxon Mobil Corporation entered into an agreement under which Mr. Raymond agrees to provide certain transition services to the company for a limited period. The agreement also includes provisions under which the company will provide Mr. Raymond with certain personal protective services for a limited period. See Item 5.02(b) below. The agreement was negotiated on behalf of ExxonMobil by the Compensation Committee of the company's Board of Directors, which consists solely of independent directors.

A copy of the agreement is attached as Exhibit 99.1 to this report. The key terms of the agreement are as follows:

Transition services.

For a one-year period commencing January 1, 2006, Mr. Raymond agrees to assist in the transitioning of major strategic corporate relationships and to participate in external activities and events as requested by ExxonMobil's Chairman in exchange for a fee of $1 million, payable in a single installment in December 2006, plus reimbursement of Mr. Raymond's reasonable expenses incurred in providing such services.

Protective services.

For a two-year period commencing January 1, 2006, the company will provide the following protective services to Mr. Raymond and his spouse based on a security risk assessment:

- A security system at Mr. Raymond's principal residence.
- Personal security personnel.
- A car and personal security driver.
- Use of ExxonMobil aircraft for ExxonMobil business and personal travel. Personal use of ExxonMobil aircraft by Mr. Raymond will be subject to aircraft availability in light of ExxonMobil's business needs. If ExxonMobil aircraft is not available to meet a request for personal travel, ExxonMobil will arrange for the lease of aircraft from a third party provider.

Mr. Raymond will reimburse ExxonMobil for any personal car use on the basis of annualized lease value plus fuel charges. Mr. Raymond will reimburse ExxonMobil for any personal use of private aircraft at a rate equal to twice the applicable Standard Industry Fare Level published from time to time by the U.S. Department of Labor.

We cannot predict the actual future cost to ExxonMobil of providing the protective services described above since the actual cost will depend on a number of highly variable factors. These factors include Mr. Raymond's actual future business and personal travel needs; the fact that a portion of the cost of protective services during the first year of the agreement will relate to Mr. Raymond's agreement to provide transition services and thus will represent an ExxonMobil business expense; the availability of company aircraft and the actual future cost of any leased aircraft; and other changes in applicable cost and reimbursement levels.

Based solely on historical usage and cost patterns, the total incremental cost to ExxonMobil of providing these services, excluding services related to ExxonMobil business and before deducting amounts to be reimbursed by Mr. Raymond, would be less than $1 million per year.

The agreement between the company and Mr. Raymond described above is in addition to the benefits to which Mr. Raymond is otherwise entitled under existing company plans and policies described in more detail in ExxonMobil's most recent proxy statement dated April 13, 2005. These include benefits under ExxonMobil's defined contribution plans, defined benefit plans, and incentive programs, in which all eligible ExxonMobil employees participate on the same basis. In addition, as noted in the proxy statement, the company makes available to a few retired senior executives otherwise vacant office space and the services of an administrative assistant. The incremental cost to ExxonMobil of this benefit for Mr. Raymond is estimated to be approximately $200,000 per year.

As described in prior proxy statements, restricted stock granted to senior executives prior to 2002 will be deliverable according to the terms of the original grants at the beginning of the year following the year of retirement. Restricted stock granted to Mr. Raymond and other senior executives in 2002 and later years remains restricted (i) for half the shares, until five years after grant, and (ii) for the balance, until 10 years after grant or retirement, whichever occurs later. These restricted periods are not subject to acceleration except in case of death. Thus, for example, half the restricted stock granted to Mr. Raymond in 2005 will remain restricted until 2010 and the other half will remain restricted until 2015. During the restricted period, the stock may not be sold or otherwise transferred and is subject to forfeiture if Mr. Raymond is found to have engaged in activity that is detrimental to the company.

Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Principal Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Principal Officers.

(b) As anticipated, at its meeting on December 16, 2005, the registrant's Board of Directors accepted Lee R. Raymond's resignation as Chairman of the Board and chief executive officer of ExxonMobil effective December 31, 2005.

(c) As anticipated, at its meeting on December 16, 2005, the registrant's Board of Directors elected Rex W. Tillerson to succeed Lee R. Raymond as Chairman of the Board and chief executive officer of ExxonMobil effective January 1, 2006.

Mr. Tillerson, age 53, was elected Senior Vice President of ExxonMobil in 2001 and was elected President and Director in 2004. Mr. Tillerson has held a variety of management positions in domestic and foreign operations since joining the Exxon organization in 1975, including President, Exxon Yemen Inc. and Esso Exploration and Production Khorat Inc.; Vice President, Exxon Ventures (CIS) Inc.; President, Exxon Neftegas Limited; and Executive Vice President, ExxonMobil Development Company. Mr. Tillerson currently holds no other public company directorships.

As noted in the registrant's proxy statement dated April 13, 2005, the registrant's Compensation Committee believes that all executives should be "at will" employees of the company. Accordingly, Mr. Tillerson, like prior Chairmen and other ExxonMobil senior executives, does not have an employment contract. Mr. Tillerson does participate in ExxonMobil's incentive programs, which are described in more detail in the proxy statement and in the registrant's Current Report on Form 8-K filed December 1, 2005. Mr. Tillerson's annual salary will be $1.5 million.

INDEX TO EXHIBITS

Exhibit No.	Description
99.1	Agreement dated December 16, 2005, between Exxon Mobil Corporation and L. R. Raymond.

This services agreement (this "Agreement") is entered into on December 16, 2005, between Exxon Mobil Corporation ("ExxonMobil") and Lee R. Raymond.

WHEREAS, ExxonMobil's Board has accepted Mr. Raymond's resignation as Chairman of ExxonMobil effective December 31, 2005; and

WHEREAS, ExxonMobil's Compensation Committee has determined that it would be in the best interest of ExxonMobil and its shareholders for Mr. Raymond to provide certain transition services to ExxonMobil for a limited period after Mr. Raymond's resignation, and Mr. Raymond is willing to provide such services on the terms specified in this Agreement; and

WHEREAS, based on a security risk assessment, the Compensation Committee has determined that it would be appropriate to provide Mr. Raymond with certain protective services for a limited period after Mr. Raymond's resignation on the terms specified in this Agreement;

THEREFORE, ExxonMobil and Mr. Raymond agree as follows:

1. Transition services. For a one-year period commencing January 1, 2006, Mr. Raymond agrees to assist in the transitioning of major strategic corporate relationships and to participate in external activities and events as requested by ExxonMobil's Chairman. In consideration of Mr. Raymond's agreement to provide these services, ExxonMobil will pay Mr. Raymond a one-time fee of $1 million, payable in a single installment in December 2006, plus reimbursement of Mr. Raymond's reasonable expenses incurred in providing such services. In providing services under this Agreement, Mr. Raymond will act solely as an independent contractor and not an employee of ExxonMobil.

2. Protective Services. For a two-year period commencing January 1, 2006, ExxonMobil will provide the following protective services to Mr. Raymond and his spouse:

- (a) A security system at Mr. Raymond's principal residence;
- (b) Personal security personnel;
- (c) A car and personal security driver; and
- (d) Use of ExxonMobil aircraft for ExxonMobil business and personal travel. Personal use of ExxonMobil aircraft by Mr. Raymond will be subject to aircraft availability in light of ExxonMobil's business needs. If ExxonMobil aircraft is not available to meet a request for personal travel, ExxonMobil will arrange for the lease of aircraft from a third-party provider.

- (e) Mr. Raymond will reimburse ExxonMobil for any personal use of the car provided under clause (c) on the basis of annualized lease value plus fuel cost. Mr. Raymond will reimburse ExxonMobil for any personal use of private aircraft provided under clause (d) on the basis of the Standard Industry Fare Level as published from time to time by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

3. Miscellaneous. This Agreement represents the entire agreement between the parties regarding the matters covered herein. This Agreement is in addition to, not in lieu of, normal retirement benefits to which Mr. Raymond is entitled under existing ExxonMobil programs and policies. This Agreement will be governed by the laws of Texas without regard to choice of law principles.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have entered into this Agreement as of the day first specified above.
