

ExxonMobil Second Quarter 2023 Earnings Call Slide and Prepared Remarks

This slide and corresponding transcript present images and prepared remarks related to ExxonMobil's announced Denbury acquisition during ExxonMobil's second quarter 2023 earnings call held on July 28, 2023.

Combining Denbury's assets and experience with our capabilities will significantly accelerate and expand our ability to profitably help customers reduce their emissions and allow ExxonMobil to play an even greater role in a thoughtful energy transition.

It significantly enhances our competitive position and offers a compelling customer proposition to economically reduce emissions in hard-to-decarbonize heavy industries which, today, have limited, practical options.

Of Denbury's 1,300 miles of CO<sub>2</sub> pipeline, roughly 70% are in the Gulf Coast states of Louisiana, Texas, and Mississippi — one of the largest U.S. markets for CO<sub>2</sub> reduction and home to some of ExxonMobil's largest integrated refining and chemical sites and nine of their ten strategically-located CO<sub>2</sub> storage sites are also in this region.

We believe the transaction synergies will drive strong growth and returns. A cost-efficient transportation and storage system accelerates CCS deployment for both ExxonMobil and our third-party customers. It supports multiple low-carbon value chains – including CCS, hydrogen, ammonia, and biofuels.

Ultimately, we see an opportunity to create a CCS business with the capacity to reduce emissions across the Gulf Coast by up to 100 million tons per year<sup>1</sup>. This transaction will help us do that at a lower cost and faster pace. In fact, we see the potential for a third of the opportunity being actionable in the near term.

Which takes us to our customers. Our latest offtake agreement extends our CCS customer base beyond industrial gas and fertilizers into steel. This project will tie into the same CO<sub>2</sub> transportation and storage infrastructure we'll use to serve CF Industries, located just 10 miles from Nucor. Focusing our efforts and investments in areas with concentrated sources of emissions allows us to capture the benefits of scale, reduce our spend per ton of CO<sub>2</sub> captured and improves returns.

Our work with Nucor supports Louisiana's goal of reaching net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050 and it increases the total amount of CO<sub>2</sub> we've agreed to transport and store for customers to 5 million metric tons per year – equivalent to replacing 2 million cars with EVs, roughly the same number of electric vehicles on the road in the United States today.<sup>2</sup> With the planned Denbury acquisition, the potential reduction could be up to 20 times that.

As demonstrated by these new developments, we're continuing to make significant progress in our plans to lead industry in helping society reduce emissions.
