NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Basis Of Financial Statement Preparation

These unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in the context of the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the corporation's 2003 Annual Report on Form 10-K. In the opinion of the corporation, the information furnished herein reflects all known accruals and adjustments necessary for a fair statement of the results for the periods reported herein. All such adjustments are of a normal recurring nature. The corporation's exploration and production activities are accounted for under the "successful efforts" method.

2. Accounting Change

As of January 1, 2003, the corporation adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 143 (FAS 143), "Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations." The cumulative adjustment for the change in accounting principle reported in the first quarter of 2003 was after-tax income of $550 million (net of $442 million of income tax effects, including ExxonMobil's share of related equity company income taxes of $51 million), or $0.08 per common share.

3. Accounting for Variable Interest Entities

In December 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued a revised Interpretation No. 46 (FIN 46), "Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities," replacing the original interpretation issued in January 2003.

The corporation identified three operating entities in which the corporation has variable interests primarily through lease commitments and certain guarantees extended by the corporation. While implementation was not required until March 31, 2004, the corporation chose to adopt FIN 46 in the fourth quarter 2003 by consolidating these entities, which were previously accounted for under the equity method. There was no effect on net income, because the corporation was already recording its share of net income of these entities.

The impact to the balance sheet was to increase both assets and liabilities by about $500 million. However, there was no change to the calculation of return on average capital employed, because the corporation already includes its share of equity company debt in the determination of average capital employed.

4. Litigation and Other Contingencies

Litigation

A variety of claims have been made against ExxonMobil and certain of its consolidated subsidiaries in a number of pending lawsuits and tax disputes. The corporation accrues an undiscounted liability for those contingencies where the incurrence of a loss is probable and the amount can be reasonably estimated. The corporation does not record liabilities when the likelihood that the liability has been incurred is probable, but the amount cannot be reasonably estimated, or when the liability is believed to be only reasonably possible or remote. ExxonMobil will continue to defend itself vigorously in these matters. Based on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, the corporation does not believe the ultimate outcome of any currently pending lawsuit against ExxonMobil will have a materially adverse effect upon the corporation's operations or financial condition.

A number of lawsuits, including class actions, were brought in various courts against Exxon Mobil Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries relating to the accidental release of crude oil from the tanker Exxon Valdez in 1989. The vast majority of the compensatory claims have been resolved. All of the punitive damage claims were consolidated in the civil trial that began in May 1994.

In that trial, on September 24, 1996, the United States District Court for the District of Alaska entered a judgment in the amount of $5 billion in punitive damages to a class composed of all persons and entities who asserted claims for punitive damages from the corporation as a result of the Exxon Valdez grounding. ExxonMobil appealed the judgment. On November 7, 2001, the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit vacated the punitive damage award as being excessive under the Constitution and remanded the case to the District Court for it to determine the amount of the punitive damage award consistent with the Ninth Circuit's holding. The Ninth Circuit upheld the compensatory damage award which has been paid. On December 6, 2002, the District Court reduced the punitive damage award from $5 billion to $4 billion. Both the plaintiffs and ExxonMobil appealed that decision to the Ninth Circuit. The Ninth Circuit panel vacated the District Court's $4 billion punitive damage award without argument and sent the case back for the District Court to reconsider in light of the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision in Campbell v. State Farm. On January 28, 2004, the District Court reinstated the punitive damage award at $4.5 billion plus interest. ExxonMobil and the plaintiffs have appealed the decision to the Ninth Circuit. The corporation has posted a $5.4 billion letter of credit.

On January 29, 1997, a settlement agreement was concluded resolving all remaining matters between the corporation and various insurers arising from the Valdez accident. Under terms of this settlement, ExxonMobil received $480 million. Final income statement recognition of this settlement continues to be deferred in view of uncertainty regarding the ultimate cost to the corporation of the Valdez accident.

Management believes that the likelihood of the judgment being upheld is remote. While it is reasonably possible that a liability may have been incurred arising from the Exxon Valdez grounding, it is not possible to predict the ultimate outcome or to reasonably estimate any such potential liability.

On December 19, 2000, a jury in the 15th Judicial Circuit Court of Montgomery County, Alabama, returned a verdict against the corporation in a dispute over royalties in the amount of $88 million in compensatory damages and $3.4 billion in punitive damages in the case of Exxon Corporation v. State of Alabama, et al. The verdict was upheld by the trial court on May 4, 2001. On December 20, 2002, the Alabama Supreme Court vacated the $3.5 billion jury verdict. The case was retried and on November 14, 2003, a state district court jury in Montgomery, Alabama returned a verdict against Exxon Mobil Corporation. The verdict included $63.5 million in compensatory damages and $11.8 billion in punitive damages. On March 29, 2004, the district court judge reduced the amount of punitive damages to $3.5 billion. ExxonMobil believes the judgment is not justified by the evidence and that the amount of the award is grossly excessive and unconstitutional. ExxonMobil has appealed the decision. Management believes that the likelihood of the judgment being upheld is remote. While it is reasonably possible that a liability may have been incurred by ExxonMobil from this dispute over royalties, it is not possible to predict the ultimate outcome or to reasonably estimate any such potential liability. On May 4, 2004, the corporation posted a $4.5 billion supersedeas bond as required by Alabama law to stay execution of the judgment pending appeal. The corporation has pledged to the issuer of the bond collateral consisting of cash and short-term, high quality securities with an aggregate value of approximately $4.6 billion. This collateral is reported as restricted cash and cash equivalents on the condensed consolidated balance sheet. Under the terms of the pledge agreement, the corporation is entitled to receive the income generated from the cash and securities and to make investment decisions, but is restricted from using the pledged cash and securities for any other purpose until such time as the bond is cancelled.

On May 22, 2001, a state court jury in New Orleans, Louisiana, returned a verdict against the corporation and three other entities in a case brought by a landowner claiming damage to his property. The property had been leased by the landowner to a company that performed pipe cleaning and storage services for customers, including the corporation. The jury awarded the plaintiff $56 million in compensatory damages (90 percent to be paid by the corporation) and $1 billion in punitive damages (all to be paid by the corporation). The damage related to the presence of naturally occurring radioactive material (NORM) on the site resulting from pipe cleaning operations. The award has been upheld at the trial court. ExxonMobil has appealed the judgment to the Louisiana Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals and believes that the judgment should be set aside or substantially reduced on factual and constitutional grounds. Management believes that the likelihood of the jury verdict being upheld is remote. While it is reasonably possible that a liability may have been incurred by ExxonMobil from this dispute over property damages, it is not possible to predict the ultimate outcome or to reasonably estimate any such potential liability.

In Allapattah v. Exxon, a jury in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida determined in January 2001 that a class of all Exxon dealers between March 1983 and August 1994 had been overcharged between 1.03 and 1.4 cents per gallon for gasoline. Exxon sold a total of 39.8 billion gallons of gasoline to its dealers during this period. The estimated value of the potential claims associated with the 39.8 billion gallons of gasoline is $494 million. Including related interest, the total is approximately $1.3 billion. On June 11, 2003, the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment and on March 15, 2004, denied a petition for Rehearing En Banc. On July 14, 2004, ExxonMobil filed a petition for grant of writ of certiorari with the U.S. Supreme Court. Pending the appeals process, members of the class may file claims during the period from February 29, 2003 through August 29, 2004. It is not known which or how many dealers may make claims or the extent to which ExxonMobil will have set-offs or defenses to the claims that are filed. As of June 30, 2004 claims on 19.0 billion gallons have been filed for $235 million. Including related interest and not adjusting for potential set-offs or defenses, the total would be approximately $500 million. While it is reasonably possible that a liability may have been incurred by ExxonMobil in this dispute over gasoline pricing, it is not possible to predict the ultimate outcome.

Tax issues for 1980-93 remain pending before the U.S. Tax Court. The ultimate resolution of these issues is not expected to have a materially adverse effect upon the corporation's operations or financial condition.

Other Contingencies

Obligations	Obligations	Total

Guarantees of excise taxes and custom duties

Other guarantees	2,194	411	2,605
Total	$ 2,194	$ 1,409	$ 3,603

The corporation and certain of its consolidated subsidiaries were contingently liable at June 30, 2004 for $3,603 million, primarily relating to guarantees for notes, loans and performance under contracts. This included $998 million representing guarantees of non-U.S. excise taxes and customs duties of other companies, entered into as a normal business practice, under reciprocal arrangements. Also included in this amount were guarantees by consolidated affiliates of $2,194 million, representing ExxonMobil's share of obligations of certain equity companies.

Additionally, the corporation and its affiliates have numerous long-term sales and purchase commitments in their various business activities, all of which are expected to be fulfilled with no adverse consequences material to the corporation's operations or financial condition. The corporation's outstanding unconditional purchase obligations at June 30, 2004 were similar to those at the prior year-end period. Unconditional purchase obligations as defined by accounting standards are those long-term commitments that are noncancelable or cancelable only under certain conditions, and that third parties have used to secure financing for the facilities that will provide the contracted goods or services.

The operations and earnings of the corporation and its affiliates throughout the world have been, and may in the future be, affected from time to time in varying degree by political developments and laws and regulations, such as forced divestiture of assets; restrictions on production, imports and exports; price controls; tax increases and retroactive tax claims; expropriation of property; cancellation of contract rights and environmental regulations. Both the likelihood of such occurrences and their overall effect upon the corporation vary greatly from country to country and are not predictable.

As of year-end 2003, the company expected to make contributions of up to $300 million to U.S. plans, depending on the outcome of legislative proposals before Congress. On April 10, 2004, the President of the United States signed into law H.R. 3108 which establishes a two-year replacement of the benchmark interest rate used to determine the funding of liabilities of private sector pension plans. As a result of that legislation, the company does not expect to make a contribution to its U.S. pension plans in 2004. The expected contribution of about $450 million to non-U.S. plans is unchanged.

Liquids production of 2,581 kbd (thousands of barrels per day) increased by 4 percent from 2,477 kbd in the second quarter of 2003.

Higher production from new fields in West Africa and Norway and the absence of last year's operational issues was partly offset by natural field decline in mature areas, adverse entitlement effects and divestment impacts.

Second quarter natural gas production decreased to 9,001 mcf (millions of cubic feet per day) from 9,283 mcf last year. Natural field decline in mature areas, divestment impacts and adverse entitlement effects were partly offset by projects, work programs and an additional LNG train in Qatar.

On an oil-equivalent basis, production increased by 1 percent. Plans for long-term capacity increases remain on track as reflected by continued high levels of capital spending.

Earnings from U.S. upstream operations were $1,237 million, up $330 million. Non-U.S. upstream earnings of $2,609 million were $678 million higher than last year's second quarter.

Upstream earnings in the first half of 2004 of $7,859 million compared to $8,531 million in 2003 which included a $1,700 million gain from the transfer of shares of Ruhrgas AG. First half 2004 results benefited from higher liquids and natural gas realizations and increased production.

Liquids production of 2,608 kbd increased by 5 percent from 2,491 kbd in the first half of 2003. Higher production in West Africa and Norway and the absence of last year's national strike effects in Venezuela, were partly offset by natural field decline in mature areas, adverse entitlement effects and divestment impacts.

First half natural gas production of 10,234 mcf, decreased 423 mcf from 2003. Natural field decline in mature areas and adverse entitlement effects were partly offset by the start-up of an additional LNG train in Qatar and by projects and work programs.

On an oil-equivalent basis, production increased by 1 percent from the first half of last year. Excluding divestment and entitlement effects, production increased by 3 percent from the first half of last year.

Earnings from U.S. upstream operations for the first half of 2004 were $2,391 million, an increase of $225 million. Earnings outside the U.S. of $5,468 million in 2004 compared to $6,365 million last year which included the one-time $1,700 million Ruhrgas gain. Non-U.S. earnings benefited from liquids production growth and higher liquids and natural gas realizations.

Cash provided by operating activities totaled $18,790 million for the first six months of 2004 versus $15,995 million in the same period last year which included non-cash income for the site restoration accounting change and the Ruhrgas transaction. Major sources of funds were net income of $11,230 million and non-cash provisions of $4,723 million for depreciation and depletion. For additional details, see the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows on page 5.

In the first quarter of 2003, ExxonMobil completed a divestment of interests in shares of Ruhrgas AG, a German gas transmission company. These shares were held in part by BEB Erdgas und Erdoel GmbH (BEB), an investment accounted for by the equity method, and in part by a consolidated affiliate in Germany. In 2002, cash in the amount of $1,466 million was received from BEB and included in cash flows from operating activities. This cash from BEB was a loan and was part of a restructuring that enabled BEB to transfer its holdings in Ruhrgas AG provided regulatory approval was received. No income was recorded in 2002. In the first quarter of 2003, upon receipt of regulatory approvals, the Ruhrgas AG shares held by BEB were transferred, cash was received for the shares held by the consolidated affiliate and a one-time gain of $1,700 million after tax was recognized in net income. The $2,240 million reduction in 2003 cash flow from operating activities reflects the pre-tax gains from the transaction. The cash generated from these gains for the BEB portion of the transaction was reported in 2002. For the shares held by the consolidated affiliate, the cash received was reported in cash flows from investing activities in 2003.

Investing activities in 2004 used net cash of $8,150 million compared to $4,371 million in the prior year. Spending for additions to property, plant and equipment of $5,742 million and proceeds from asset divestments of $1,382 million were comparable to the respective amounts in the prior year. As discussed in note 4 to the condensed consolidated financial statements, investing activities in the second quarter 2004 included the pledge by the corporation to the issuer of a litigation related appeal bond of collateral consisting of restricted cash and cash equivalents of $4,601 million.

Net cash used in financing activities of $6,897 million in the first six months of 2004 was at a similar level to the 2003 period reflecting a higher level of purchases of ExxonMobil shares in the current year offset by the absence of debt reduction in the prior year.

Total cash and cash equivalents, including the $4.6 billion of restricted cash, was $18.8 billion at the end of the second quarter, 2004.

During the second quarter of 2004, the corporation purchased 45 million shares of its common stock for the treasury at a gross cost of $1,947 million. Shares outstanding were reduced from 6,540 million at the end of the first quarter of 2004 to 6,506 million at the end of the second quarter. During the first half of 2004, the corporation purchased 92 million shares of its common stock for the treasury at a gross cost of $3,900 million. These purchases were to offset shares issued in conjunction with company benefit plans and programs and to reduce the number of shares outstanding.

In July, as a consequence of the continued strengthening of the corporation's financial position, the rate of share purchases was increased. Purchases to reduce shares outstanding are anticipated to increase by approximately $1 billion in the third quarter versus the second quarter. Purchases may be made in both the open market and through negotiated transactions and may be increased, decreased or discontinued at any time without prior notice.

Total debt of $9.8 billion at June 30, 2004 was $0.3 billion higher than at year-end 2003. The corporation's debt to total capital ratio was 9.2 percent at the end of the second quarter of 2004, compared to 9.3 percent at year-end 2003.

Although the corporation issues long-term debt from time to time and maintains a revolving commercial paper program, internally generated funds cover the majority of its financial requirements.

Litigation and other contingencies are discussed in note 4 to the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements. There are no events or uncertainties known to management beyond those already included in reported financial information that would indicate a material change in future operating results or future financial condition.

The corporation, as part of its ongoing asset management program, continues to evaluate its mix of assets for potential upgrade. Because of the ongoing nature of this program, dispositions will continue to be made from time to time which will result in either gains or losses.

First six months of 2004 income tax expense was $7,212 million and the effective income tax rate was 41.1 percent, compared to $5,966 million and 37.8 percent, respectively, in the prior year period. The effective income tax rate in the first six months of 2004 was similar to the prior year, excluding the income tax effects of the gain on the Ruhrgas share transfer in the first quarter of 2003. During both years, the corporation continued to benefit from the favorable resolution of tax related issues. Excise and all other taxes and duties were higher reflecting higher prices and foreign exchange effects.

Capital and exploration expenditures were $7,018 million in the first half of 2004 compared to $7,327 million in the prior year period.

In 2003, the corporation invested over $15 billion in capital projects and exploration activities and expects to invest at a similar level for the next couple of years. ExxonMobil is pursuing all attractive opportunities with the same disciplined investment approach that has delivered results in the past.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Information about market risks for the six months ended June 30, 2004, does not differ materially from that discussed under Item 7A of the registrant's Annual Report on Form 10-K for 2003.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

As indicated in the certifications in Exhibit 31 of this report, the corporation's principal executive officer, principal accounting officer and principal financial officer have evaluated the corporation's disclosure controls and procedures as of June 30, 2004. Based on that evaluation, these officers have concluded that the corporation's disclosure controls and procedures are effective for the purpose of ensuring that material information required to be in this quarterly report is made known to them by others on a timely basis. There have not been changes in the corporation's internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the corporation's last fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect the corporation's internal control over financial reporting.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

The corporation has reached agreement with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation ("NYSDEC") regarding settlement of various matters related to service stations that were previously reported by the corporation.

- Regarding the 14 outstanding Orders on Consent relating to alleged failures to conduct tank tightness tests at 13 service stations in accordance with applicable petroleum bulk storage laws, the parties have agreed to settle for oversight costs of $30,000, a penalty of $50,000 and an agreement to conduct a compliance audit at the sites.
- Regarding a Notice of Hearing and Complaint (a "Notice") served on September 5, 2002 relating to alleged discharges of petroleum and failure to report spills at a service station on Fort Hamilton Parkway in Brooklyn, New York, the parties have agreed to settle for $10,000 in oversight costs and a penalty of $65,000.
- Regarding Notices served on September 5, 2002 relating to alleged discharges of petroleum, the parties have agreed to settle with respect to a service station on West Street in Manhattan for $10,000 in oversight costs and a penalty of $70,000, and with respect to a service station on Pike Street in New York City, for $10,000 in oversight costs and a $50,000 penalty.
- Regarding 23 identical Notices served on the corporation on June 5, 2002, one for each of 23 service stations in New York, the parties have agreed to settle for oversight costs of $40,000, a penalty of $100,000, and an agreement to conduct a compliance audit at the sites. The parties have agreed to settle an additional complaint for a site in Poughkeepsie, New York, for a $20,000 penalty.
- Regarding a Notice served relating to alleged discharges of petroleum and failure to provide, test and maintain cathodic protection for underground tanks and piping at a service station on York Avenue in New York City, the parties have agreed to settle for $7,500 in oversight costs and a $100,000 penalty.

All of the above settlements are expected to be finalized, and payments to be made by the corporation, in the third quarter of 2004.

The Office of the Attorney General for the State of New York filed a complaint in 1992 in a matter captioned "State of New York v. Exxon Corporation, Arrow Petroleum, and Tartan Oil Corp, and 3rd party action Exxon Corporation v. 150 Fulton Realty Corp., Oil City Gas Company, and Martin Meyer". The trial court's judgment in favor of all defendants was reversed by the 3rd Appellate Division in May 2004, and the case has been remanded for a new trial. The New York Attorney General alleges that petroleum discharged at an Exxon-branded service station in Farmingdale, New York impacted soil and groundwater in the vicinity of a Dart service station located across the street, in violation of New York State Navigation Law. The NYSDEC began remediation at the Dart service station in 1988, and has incurred more than $1.8 million in costs. In its current complaint, the State is seeking recovery of its remediation costs as well as penalties in the amount of $1.25 million. The corporation maintains that any contamination at the Exxon station was cleaned up by the corporation and that the contamination remediated by the NYSDEC was from operations at the Dart station.

In a lawsuit filed in June 2004, the State of New York is seeking compensatory damages of up to $2.4 million and penalties in excess of $250,000 in connection with remediation it undertook at a former Mobil-owned service station in Mahopac, New York. The State alleges the corporation violated the New York State Navigation Law due to multiple releases and spills at the site in the 1970's, as well as a leaking underground storage tank and leaking waste oil tank in 1984, impacting the soil and groundwater in the vicinity. The station was sold in the mid-1980's. The corporation has only limited information concerning the allegations at this time. The case is captioned "State of New York v. Exxon Mobil Corporation, ExxonMobil Oil Corporation, Frank J. Flory, Gasper J. Flory a.k.a. Jerry Flory, FRF Corp., Hilltop Service Station Co. Inc., Sciaffani Realty, Corp., Sciaffani Petroleum, Inc., and Top Gas, Inc." An appearance has been entered and the complaint has been demanded from the State. Discovery will commence after the complaint is received.

In a matter reported in the corporation's Form 10-Q for the first quarter of 2004, relating to an anticipated action by the NYSDEC with respect to a Mobil-branded service station in Springfield Gardens, New York, the NYSDEC has alleged additional violations of the Navigation Law and has increased the aggregate penalty demand to $600,000 (from $400,000) to settle the outstanding issues prior to filing of an enforcement action. The NYSDEC alleges additional failures to report, provide information, and remediate. The parties currently intend to submit to non-binding mediation in the third quarter of 2004.

On May 5, 2004, a California Department of Toxic Substances Control ("DTSC") compliance officer met with personnel at the corporation's Torrance refinery in connection with the corporation's report in 2003 that it was discharging wastewater containing selenium above one part per million to the sewer that leads to the county treatment facility. The DTSC issued a Summary of Violations dated December 31, 2003, alleging that such discharge is a violation of state hazardous waste regulations and demanding correction of the issue, but no demand for penalties was made at that time. At the time of the May meeting with the corporation, the refinery discussed with the DTSC the refinery's proposed solution to remedy the issue. The refinery is awaiting the DTSC's written response on its proposed solution. At the meeting, the DTSC also indicated that it likely would seek a penalty for the alleged violation. However, no specific demand has been made.

The corporation has reached a settlement with the South Coast Air Quality Management District (the "District") regarding matters previously reported by the corporation, and certain other matters, with respect to the Torrance, California refinery. In exchange for a civil penalty of $8.25 million, the District agrees to release all outstanding Notices of Violation relating to the District's rules regarding tank seal self-inspection, reporting and repair, and other issues associated with other applicable rules within the District's authority to enforce. The settlement was filed in Los Angeles Superior Court, and the court judge entered the stipulated judgment on June 25, 2004.

Refer to the relevant portions of note 4 on pages 6 through 8 of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for further information on legal proceedings.
